SOMETHING FOR FREE!

Yes, it is true that you can get something for free. Most of the time it will cost you something in the long run, but this time it truly is free. It will only take a few minutes to reserve your free spot and you will receive a huge return on your investment. I highly recommend that you make a reservation for this amazing opportunity that is really free and will fill you with awe and inspiration.

The amazing opportunity is offered by GCA on December 8. You can register on the GCA website. It is very easy to do. There are three fantastic designers: Joseph Massie, Daniel Santamaria, and Laura Larocci. They will give you inciteful instructions, updates on sustainable practices, and astounding winter arrangements all free. Take advantage of the opportunity to interact with the designers during the live question and answer period.

Not often do you have the experience of learning from such prestigious designers. Wouldn't it be fun to invite your best garden/designer pal or a few garden pals and make a party out of it? You wouldn't have to wear shoes if you didn't want to and you could drink wine and eat chocolates.

Register on the GCA website before December 5 and you can enjoy a day of exemplary designing and it is all FREE.
